$5,000,000 LOST ANNUALLY

Jefferson City, Mo., July 13. Five million dollars is lost yearly by the people of Missouri and the farmers of Bollinger county are losing a part of this vast sum. Our loss can be stopped.

This loss is caused by producers not knowing how to properly grade and market their eggs. Commission men find it very profitable to grade the eggs they have purchased from farmers.

The state marketing bureau has several expert egg graders in the food instructing farm folks how to grade their eggs so that the producer may realize the very best market price for that product.

Any produce dealer can secure one of these of these expert graders by making application to Arthur T. Nelson of the state marketing bureau. This service is free and meetings will be held at places where interest in the matter justifies. Every produce dealer owes it to his trade to secure these experts for demonstrations and conferences and an application should be made to the secretary of the bureau. Approval will be in demand from all sections of the state. If one of these meetings is held near you and you either buy or sell eggs, it is certainly to your advantage to attend the meeting.

The Marketing Bulletin, published by the State Marketing Bureau at Jefferson City, is free to everyone and the issue of July 13 will be dedicated to the egg standardization program now being carried out throughout Missouri. If you are interested in better prices for eggs, fill in and mail out the following coupon to the State Marketing Bureau, Jefferson City, Mo.:

A CORRECTION.

There has been some literature circulated by a certain candidate for supreme judge, which leaves the impression that the Democratic state committee is pushing his candidacy for the nomination at the August primary. This is not the case. Our committee is taking no part between candidates. This literature is so deceiving that even lawyers have complained to our committee, and this statement is made for its purpose of correcting any impressions that may be created by some that the State committee is in any way taking part between candidates in the primary campaign.

The Tale of a Carnival Joke That Led to Grim Realities
The Mardi Gras Mystery

By H. BEDFORD-JONES

The setting of this charming story is not the New Orleans which General Jackson defended, neither is it the New Orleans of George W. Cable; but the modern commercial metropolis made rich by shipping, industrialism and the development of oil, sulphur and other nearby resources.

However, the author does throw in some of the atmosphere that still clings to the historic place in the undiminished gayeties of Mardi Gras and Mi-Carême and in glimpses of "Cajunism" and the surviving pride and hospitality of Creole aristocracy.

It is an engaging narrative in every respect with a delightful love interest, two heroes of most contrasting types and a mystery that will capture you and keep you guessing until the end.

It Will Appear Serially in

Tired

"I was weak and run-down," relates Mrs. Ella Burnett, of Dalton, Ga. "I was thin and just felt tired, all the time. I didn't rest well. I wasn't ever hungry. I knew, by this, I needed a tonic, and as there is none better than—"

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

"I began using Cardui," continues Mrs. Burnett. "After my first bottle, I slept better and ate better. I took four bottles. Now I'm well, feel just fine, eat and sleep, my skin is clear and I have gained and sure feel that Cardui is the best tonic ever made."

Thousands of other women have found Cardui just as Mrs. Burnett did. It should help you.
